CONFIDENTLY LEADING THROUGH COLLABORATION, CUSTOMIZATION AND CREATIVITY

Board Report

Leadership & Learning

November has been a month of putting new learning to work. Consultants are bringing what they learned at fall conferences into the districts they serve, our regional networks are helping teachers apply research-based strategies in their own classrooms, and district and school leadership teams are setting clear goals and action steps for continuous improvement with the support of MOESC.

Serving All Learners: Literacy, Math, Gifted & Multilingual Learners (ML)

- Consultants who attended the Ohio Association for Gifted Children and Ohio Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages conferences completed their "Conference Learning to Action" reflections. Gifted consultants are sharing new strategies with gifted coordinators and classroom teachers, and Multilingual Learner tutors are putting new practices to work directly with students in the districts they serve.

- Gifted consultants are finalizing Written Education Plans (WEPs), coordinating with districts to ensure each plan reflects parent and teacher input, and assisting with fall gifted screening assessments.

- Consultants are supporting co-teaching initiatives that pair general education teachers with Intervention Specialists. This work reflects the strategic alignment of the Student Services and Leadership & Learning departments, which share a common goal of strong instruction for every student.

Events & Engagement

- C3 Adolescent Literacy Network: The network completed its October onboarding sessions, welcoming over 70 secondary teachers and providing classroom-ready literacy strategies for every content area. The next sessions, on November 12 and 13, are designed for English Language Arts and Social Studies teachers and will build on that learning through a model lesson.

- K–3 Literacy Network: The next K–3 Literacy Network session will be held on November 18.
- County Spelling Bees: The regional Mid-Ohio Spelling Bee for Crawford, Knox, Morrow, and Richland counties is November 10 at 6:30 p.m. Formerly the Tri-County Spelling Bee, it was renamed this year to reflect the addition of Knox County.
